Prayers

Atua of Peace

Atua of peace, allow us to drink from the tanoa of Your peace,
Right the course of our canoes to overcome the currents of violence, hatred, war, abuse,
Give us peace of being at rest, so that peace prevails over any wind that gusts through our islands,
Tattoo in our hearts Your righteousness and purity,
Through all cultures and walks of life, we pray as instruments of Peace and as the people of Pasifika

- M. Aunoa, Am. Samoa

Atua of Faith

Lord of the Ocean
Grant us the courage and faith
To face the tidal waves of our time

Lord of the Reefs,
Grant us the courage and faith,
To face the erosions of our time

Lord of the Islands
Grant us the courage and faith
To face the cyclones of our time

Atua of Grace

Precious God,

Grant us Your strength
Show us Your divine solace
Send us Your grace to blanket our souls
Send us Your wisdom to broaden our views
Help us to see Your infinite beauty
Humble our hearts to stay close to You
Silence our fears that keep us from caring, from helping, from loving, from growing,
from knowing Your truth,
Teach us peace, our Father
Lead us now and forever...Amen

- Grace T. Mareko

Atua of All

Prayer for ~ Peace for Our Planet

(....bold print the People's Voice)

God,
We humbly pray to choose peace within, so...
that peace will come to our homes, schools,
communities, cities, and so nations.
And so we will raise hands only to greet each other.

God and Creator,
We have prayed this many times,
But, our fear still holds us so tight, so closed -.

....Reach into us beyond all fear and open us to love ourselves and each other.

God of Enough..
When we are afraid to lose what we have -

....Let us offer it up to the One who gave it freely, and share.

God of Peace,
There are peaceful patterns and paths open to us -

.... Let us use them to see that all are fed, housed and find wholesome work, education, and health care.

God of All,
You love each one of us beyond our understanding.
You know our stories -

....Give us courage to bring balance and rhythm to our lives and so bring peace to our planet home.

In the name of the God of Peace, may it be so!

And let the People speak with one voice -

....Amen!

-S. Diane Trollope - Sudbury, Canada

Atua of Heaven and Earth

Oh Heavenly Father,

Let us live happily in the Pacific without hate amongst those who hate.

Let us dwell unhating amidst hateful men and women.

Let us live happily in good health amongst our Pacific brothers and sisters who are sick

Let us dwell in good health amidst ailing men.

Let us live happily, without yearning for sensual pleasures amongst those who year for them.

Let us dwell without yearning amidst those who year.

Let us live happily, we who have no impediments. We shall subsist on joy even as the radiant gods. Let us live happily, sharing, understanding, supporting and helping to hold fast to our customs, traditions and cultures of the Pacific.

Let us live happily in accepting other Pacific Island nations views and comments on most critical issues that deal with the entire Pacific.

Let us live happily in loving one another in Jesus name.

For this we pray, Amen.

Atua of Justice

Lord,

God of justice and peace

who stands with those who are poor,

who asks us to be the voice of the voiceless,

we call upon you

for those who have suffered the injustices of war and greed.

From the depths of our being we cry to you, Lord

Hear our cry, and listen to our prayers.

For those of Hiroshima and Nagasaki,

Bikini and Enitwetok,

Kwajalenin and Mururoa,

Fangataufa and Christmas Island,

Johnston Island and Monte Bello,

Emu and Maralingaö

Those Pacific people whose precious land and sea have been ravaged by nuclear explosions.

From the depths of our being we cry to you, Lord.

Hear our cry, and listen to our prayers.

For those who are suffering this day from disease, genetic malformation and the loss of those they love, as a result of nuclear radiation.

May their spirits not be broken by their bodies' pain.

From the depths of our being we cry to you, Lord.

Hear our cry, and listen to our prayers.

For those whose land and sea are today being put at risk through radio-active pollution, from dumping of nuclear wastes, and the passage of nuclear ships.

May their livelihood and health be preserved and may they live in peace and hope.

From the depths of our being we cry to you, Lord.

Hear our cry, and listen to our prayers.

We pray that your promise of justice may become real
to those for whom we pray.
May they be released to live in freedom and love.

From the depths of our being we cry to you, Lord.

*Hear our cry, and listen to our prayers,
for you are gracious, and there is in you
that which is to be feared, that which forgives,
that which strengthens, and that which comforts. Amen.*

Poems

This is ALOHA

A

A is for 'Amo 'Amo is for the first "A" in ALOHA because it means to carry a burden on the shoulders. This word reminds us of the heavy weight of responsibility we have to "aloha kekahi i ke kekahi". This responsibility stems from a heart filled with compassion for all things but especially those who are poor and oppressed in life. The 'auamo is the pole used to rest on the shoulders that carries the burden tied to both ends. The burdens are balanced which reminds us that not only do we have the responsibility to "bear one another's burdens" but our kuleana includes malama and aloha 'aina, to care for the land, the 'aina, wai, and kai.

L

L is for Li'a Li'a is defined as a strong desire, or yearning as in the yearning for peace and justice. This yearning for peace and justice is what makes ALOHA more than just a sentimental warm feeling inside. It is the honest truth that needs to find expression in the actions and not just thoughts about ALOHA. ALOHA in its most perfect form is the reality of peace and justice. When there is peace and justice ALOHA becomes a yearning for peace and justice. This yearning is echoed in the timeless words of "Ua mau ke ea o ka 'aina i ka pono!"

O

O is a word made up of a single letter and it fittingly indicates that there is only one answer to the question of life and that answer is "yes". O means to remain true, to endure, to survive, to continue, to exist! To say o means to choose life. This life is not one to be lived in isolation, but in a community, or in 'ohana with others. To understand ALOHA, one must understand what it means to declare O in the face of adversity, discouragement, and even death. The O of ALOHA erases any doubt that Aloha Ke Akua.

H

H for Hili means to braid, plait, or to string as flowers for a lei, so that we must imagine the many diverse peoples in our communities, and in the world being woven together into a beautiful rainbow quilt; or strung side by side in a wonderful, colorful, and fragrant lei of life. ALOHA is understanding and living this reality that we are all connected to one another, our lives are intertwined even as our roots go deep into the ahupua'a of this honua. Hili is the unifying imperative of ALOHA.

A

A for Alu begins with the understanding that there are things in this world that separate, divide, discriminate, and destroy. Alu is the response to divisive and destructive natures and energies. It is the antithesis to division. It seeks to bring together, to foster cooperation, to combine, to consolidate. It reminds us that the very nature of Ke Akua is to reconcile, restore, and redress. The alu of ALOHA seeks to address the brokenness in the world around us, in our families and in our communities, to bring together the things that have been separated, to tear down the walls that separate, to oki to set free those who are held captive. This is ALOHA!

A child's prayer

Le Atua e, oi le lagi, fa'afofoga maia

The Power of 'PULE'

P

P as in the word pupukahi, means to united in order to progress, as in harmonious cooperation, as in the harmonious cooperation of mind body and soul. Pupu is a clump of grass representing the coming together of single blades of grass, or the drawing together or drawing tight of the many lines as in a fishing net. Kahi is the oneness of the clump of grass, the interconnected-ness of the woven upena fishing net. To pule is to progress towards coming together, moving towards oneness, unity and harmonious cooperation in all living things, with the earth below and the heavens above. Pupukahi is to make peace with oneself and all things

U

U as in upu is the yearning, the desire, the recurring thought, the firm attachment, the never ending hope. It is the expectation, it is the longing for, it is to keep thinking with anticipation. Upu puts away anger and hatred. Upu dissolves resentments and jealousies. Upu is the desire to end the cycle of violence in the world. In pule we yearn for justice and mercy. In pule we lift up others in "aloha kekahi I kekahi" and "aloha ke Akua".

L

L is for lani which means the expanse of the sky, the mysterious heavens above. Lani is spiritual food in a time of deep hunger. The ua or rains that fall from the lani nourishes the hungry aina and invigorates all of life. In pule we look to the lani for wisdom and strength when we are weak. We look to the lani for hope in the midst of despair and disappointment. We look to the lani for healing and restoration, for the sunlight by day and the moon at night, and that in life all things are possible with Ke Akua.

E

E is for 'eo, which means to be full of food as in a calabash. 'Eo is the vision and hope that every child on this earth shall have enough to eat and a safe place to sleep. It is the hope of creating a culture of peace and nonviolence for the children of the world. Pule is the cradle in which every child sleeps, it is the food for a hungry world. In pule we envision the fullness of life. We are the calabash to be filled with good food to share with others by the way we live, and the choices and actions we make and take. 'Eo is the fullness of time and love's infinite capacity every moment of every day. This is the power of Pule!
